

Steroid4

multichain

There is not one but two holy grails in the blockchain industry. The first is the search for a coin that can buy goods and services in any store on the planet. The second is having transaction speeds that can cope if every store on the planet used it.

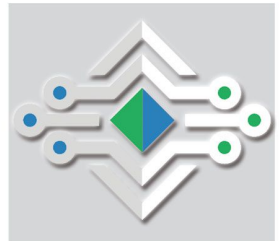

We have solved both which makes our ICO perhaps the most exciting you will ever read.

SUMMARY

Our ICO is the conglomeration of BeepXtra, the BeepCoin and Steriod 4.0 Multi-Chain technology. The individual component parts are compelling, yet combined they create an extraordinary potential to disrupt the market.

We provide solutions to some of the biggest challenges facing the blockchain and cryptocurrency in general:

- People complain that cryptocurrencies can't be spent in everyday stores. BeepXtra own the ePOS cash registers in stores so now anyone can purchase any product or service with cryptocurrency.
- Blockchain transaction speeds (typically from 20 to 2,000 transactions per second) constantly hold coins back from everyday use, because to be effective in everyday life the retail world today requires at least 25,000 transactions per second. Beep has created its own blockchain Beep Steroid 4.0 Multi-Chain technology, with speeds of at least 100,000 transactions per second.

WHAT DOES THIS MEAN?

It means that with BeepXtra, The BeepCoin and Beep Steroid 4.0 you don't need banks or merchant processors to move money in exchange for goods and services.

Each Beep card acts as a wallet to store value.

It holds the potential to completely disrupt the world of finance.

Every financial institution will want to use Beep Steroid when it becomes open source hugely increasing the market cap of the BeepCoin and hence ROI.

OUR GOAL

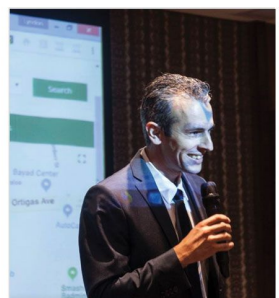

BeepXtra and its coin the BeepCoin is ideally positioned to become one if not the coin of mass adoption, introducing blockchain technology seamlessly to everyday life.

ABOUT BEEPXTRA

Beep Xtra was formed in 2013 as a decentralised global loyalty provider. Its primary function is to connect unrelated businesses anywhere in the world where customers receiving loyalty rewards in any country can redeem this at the same store or any other store in any currency anywhere on the planet.

The rewards are given in cashback not points or vouchers. The central base currency was originally chosen to be the US Dollar and the Beep software checks every currency in the world four times an hour so a cashback awarded in any local currency (for example Euros in Europe) can travel the world and when redeemed in another country (for example The Philippines) it converts to the currency the Filipino Peso.

To facilitate the above, Beep Xtra designed its own ePOS and gives it free to stores using the Beep loyalty platform. It also has online terminal software for use on any internet enabled device. The Beep platform can integrate with almost any existing ePOS with its API and can seamlessly integrate with all online businesses.

PRESENT AND FUTURE

Over 500 stores have already begun to use the Beep Xtra service worldwide, the current concentration is on clustering together stores in specific areas and the Philippines is the area chosen to focus these efforts.

Beep Xtra intends to develop 30 main regions around the world with 50,000 stores in each region giving an initial global goal of 1.5 million stores using its service.

The Beep platform has been developed over 5 years of pre-trials over 50,000 people have expressed an interest in over 192 countries and over half a million Beep Xtra cards have already been circulated.

THE STRATEGY

Beep Steroid is a technology offshoot from BeepXtra for a reason. It would cost hundreds of millions (possibly billions) of dollars to deploy mining rigs and nodes globally to provide a structure capable of supporting the entire world of commerce. Simply by building BeepXtra stores numbers creates free deployment of this structure as the software runs inside the ePOS and OTS systems.

Beep Steroid is much more than just code; in order for it to perform to its full potential it requires an enormous distributed infrastructure around the globe. Once deployed it becomes a platform so others can build on it and utilise its capabilities.

During the development of the structure the source code is kept private. Once the structure is global then no government or institution let alone private competitor could match the coverage, and at this stage the source code is given open source as a gift to the world.

Financial houses and the world's best entrepreneurs will now be enabled to hitch a ride on the readymade Beep Steroid 4.0 platform; and for every new use case the market cap of BeepCoin naturally increases making the ROI explode.

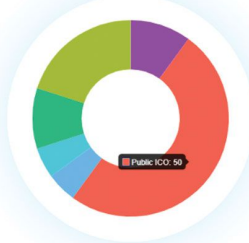

In short the world needs Steroid yet Steroid needs a structure and the mother company BeepXtra provides the free "stalking horse" deploying mining rigs and master nodes; and once fully deployed the two become insurmountable for the foreseeable future.
